

Fallen From The Sky "Beginnings"

Everyday it seems a part of me is changing, and everyday it seems a piece of me is breaking off. I'm learning everything I need to know to live in side this world, and I'll try to get away with everything.

A happy ending isn't anything without beginnings, and everyday is like a brand new day in every way. You know I can't stay awake forever; this endeavor is bringing me down, and I'm bringing you with me.

I look away because I'm scared of everything that changes. I look away because the fact is that I've got no hope. Another week, another month, and another year I have to fear. A different place, a different time, in a different state of mind.
