It's never gonna work out. We're never gonna make it.
We started on the wrong foot and I don't want to fake it.
You're the page that's missing, and I cannot replace it.
I'm going on vacation, but you're the one who's leaving.

You and me we were never meant to be. I don't deserve this, end of story. You and I were supposed to just be friends until the end.

You, you've got me, you've got me wrapped around your fingers. You're taking full advantage. You, you've got me, you've got me coming back again. You're taking me for granted.

Is he the only reason? What's he got that I don't? Why do you believe him? He's wrong for you. I thought you would be different, but you were just the same. This went the wrong direction and your to blame.

This is the end of the road. This is where you get to look me in the face and lie to me for the last time. Now I'm crossing the line, and I can't wait to see the look in your eyes when I walk away and never come back.
