

Falling Blind "Borrowed Sorrow"

Visit "Borrowed Sorrow" on MotoLyrics.com

We're stuck in the crosshairs of our country's dictators

That is the reason we're running away
In this land of oppression we're searching for answers

That is the reason we're running away

This world is a cesspool of borrowed sorrow
Leaving the youth to pick up what's left behind
We've lost all conviction, Where's the savior? Our behavior

Shows that there's no hope and faith is a lie
So what you gonna do to hold yourself together
You better find the lines you crossed
So what you gonna do to live in this world together
You better learn the art of love
We're searching for honesty
And still we find nothing here
But lies and some handouts as they send us along
We've lost what we have here
We turn on each other
And that is the reason we're running away

This world is a furnace of liars and fires
Waiting for their chance to burn us all alive
We've lost what we have here, we're deceivers, non-believers

That is the reason we're losing our minds

This world is a landmine that blows us away
So please watch your step

Visit Falling Blind page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.