

Falling Blind "Is There A Reason"

Is there a reason in the back of our minds
That caused our hearts to reach divide
I ask the question what's in our minds
I ask myself will we survive

We live a life that we know is surely failing
What will happen when we step outside that door
Into a world that is full of desolation
Tell me right now what are we fighting for

Is there a reason in the back of our minds
That caused our hearts to reach divide
I ask the question what's in our minds

I ask myself will we survive

We live a life that we know is not prevailing
Yet we sit and tell lies in front of the judge
The witness stand won't hide you from the mirror
Tell me what hole will you crawl in now

We live a life that we know is full of hatred
Yet we lay in dishonor on the ground
Is this a life that we all would say's worth saving
Will you be the one that's left there now
A light inside us burns and cause in us a flame
