Things are moving sideways, they are tracing every step

It starts a circle, it starts a connection
Not waiting for a net, jumping reckless Set still surveillance, some switch turned on

Through back doors
(Back doors)
Through back doors

I thought it was as it seems but everyone is alone
I thought it was as it seems but everyone is alone

Streetlights in the distance shed light on gravity
As the traffic moves to the closing scene
Where the spilling of secrets on the floor
Cause to question deep in our hearts

Through back doors
(Back doors)
Through back doors

I thought it was as it seems but everyone is alone
I thought it was as it seems but everyone is alone

And I can hear it calling out to disappear again

I thought it was as it seems but everyone is alone
I thought it was as it seems but everyone is alone
I thought it was as it seems but everyone is alone
