"Miss You"

I needed someone to be here to be here all along
Not any time in between
I must have waited but the hours of bliss
Were hours I've never seen
One lie could end it all
This breath could be our last one

Seems a lot of time has passed since then
When you and I were we but now just friends
Oh, I miss you
No one could ever take the place of you
And every little change that I go through alone
I miss you

I guess it's harder when you're left on your own

To understand all I did
I'm not that shallow that I don't see your side
Or all that you had to give
One lie could end it all
This breath could be our last one

Seems a lot of time has passed since then
When you and I were we but now just friends
Oh, I miss you
No one could ever take the place of you
And every little change that I go through alone
I miss you
