Stepping out on my own.
The world is too big to face alone.
The mission was clear.
To find something sincere, a love unknown.
I searched through all the universe.
My heart crash-landed on the earth. I gave up on my love pursuit.
Until I discovered you.

How in the world did I find someone like you.
Why in the world after all that we've been through.
If you weren't here with me right now, then I don't know what I'd do.
In all of the world I found my heart in you.

Getting ready for take-off.
We're gonna break-off, get out of here.
We'll be walking on air. We're gonna tear through the atmosphere.
Faster than the speed of sound.
Gravity can't hold us down.
When we touch we elevate.
Let's just float away.

How in the world did I find someone like you.

Why in the world after all that we've been through.
If you weren't here with me right now, then I don't know what I'd do.
In all of the world I found my heart in you.

This is the end of the life we once knew.
How in the world did I live without you.
This is the birth of a love so true.
How in the world did I live without you.

How in the world did I find someone like you.
Why in the world after all that we've been through.
If you weren't here with me right now, then I don't know what I'd do.
In all of the world I found my heart in you.

How in the world found I someone like you.
Why in the world after all that we've been through.
If you weren't here with me right now, then I don't know what I'd do.
In all of the world, I found my heart in you.
