Sometimes your eyes look blue to me
Although I know they're really green
I seem to see you differently
Changing as I'm treated kindly or treated meanly

From moment to moment
You're two different people
Faithful and warm when I'm in your arms
And then when you leave you're so untrue

But however you are
Deep down whatever you are
Whoever you are, I love you

Sometimes I feel you're mine alone
But then I'm sure it's just not so
I get this feeling on my own
After I've learnt if you're staying or if you're going

From moment to moment
You're two different people
Someone I know as the one I love
Or the one I wish I never knew

However you are
Deep down whatever you are
Whoever you are, I love you

Sometimes your eyes look blue to me
