Well they don't even know your names
But they hate you just the same
And its hard for you to see that its only jealousy
So i'm sorry I don't care about the way I make you feel

I think you got a lot of nerve
I think you get what you deserve

And when theres no one on the scene
And things are never what they seem
And i dont mean to sound mean
But could you take me a little more seriously
Just out of curiosity
Could you take me a little more seriously
Cause things are never what they seem

I wish I had the time to change who I don't like But your words will disappear before they make it to my ears
And when its all that you can hear
The sound of my voice very clear
And I'm laughin in your face
I'm laughin in your face

And when theres no one on the scene
And things are never what they seem
And I don't mean to sound mean
But could you take me a little more seriously
Just out of curiosity
Could you take me a little more seriously
Cause things are never what they seem

Cause things are never what they seem
Cause things are never what they seem
Cause i'm not the one you used to know
And I'm the one who cares if you fall
And I'm not the one the one who let you down
And I will let you down
And Iwill let you down

And when theres no one on the scene

And things are never what they seem
And I dont mean to sound mean
But could you take me a little more seriously
Just out of curiosity
Could you take me a little more seriously?
Cause things are never what they seem
Cause things are never what they seem
