With all the things I say You'd think the world would believe me With all the places that I stay You'd think that someone would see me

And all these words I write And all the air I breathe Will never add up to all the things That you and I both know I need

(Chorus)

You are the reason why I go so far and try so hard You are my beating heart You know these words and all the melodies You know I'd give you anything Just to hear you sing

Woah oh oh oh oh

With all the plans I make You'd think that I would follow through With all the roads I take You'd think that more would lead to you

And if the money that we needed grew on trees You can bet that all the rest of us Would still be begging for a seed

(Chorus)

(Bridge)

You gotta keep this voice inside your head Or it will fade away You know there's not much time left for us now So won't you please just say what you need to say (We're all so poor but we own this silence)

(Chorus)
