You stop to wait and wonder Wonder what got you here I know exactly what it was You blink and your choice is gone Choices you made before Can't choose the right from the wrong

I forgive you girl
Feel the heat behind your name
You break but you never were the same the same

A different light surrounds you o crown of thorns on you head faded memories are still embeded break your spine if you had one gutless in all you do cowardness is stilll the only thing you've proved
I forgive you girl
Feel the heat behind your name
You break but you never
were the same the same

You hurt me
You break me
I trusted
You break me (break)

I take control
I take my heart
I push you away cracking my skull on the stars

I forgive you girl
The only name I hear is mine
What you do now is not doing to me I hope you understand why . . .
you understand why
