Well it's knowing that your door is always open and your path is free to walk That makes me tend to keep my sleeping bag rolled up And stashed behind your couch And it's knowing I'm not shackled by forgotten words and bones
And the ink stains that have dried upon some line That keeps you in the back roads by the rivers of my mem'ry
That keeps you ever gentle on my mind

It's not clinging to the rocks and I'd be planted on their columns now that binds me Or something that somebody said because they thought we fit together walking It's just knowin' that the world will not be cursin' or forgiving
When I walk along some railroad track and find That you're movin' on the back roads by the rivers of my mem'ry
And for hours you're just gentle on my mind

Though the wheat fields and the clothes lines
And the junk yards and the highways come between us And some other woman cryin' to her mama cause she turned and I was gone

I still might run in silence tears of joy might stain my face
And a summer sun might burn me till I'm blind
But not to where I cannot see you walking on the back roads
By the rivers flowin' gentle on my mind

I dipped my cup of soap back from a gurgling crackling caltron in some train yard My beard a roughen coal pile and a dirty hat pulled low across my face Through cupped hands round a tin can I pretend I hold you to my breast and find That you're waving from the back roads by the rivers of
my mem'ry

Ever smiling ever gentle on my mind mhm
