(Bobby Harden)

Love has been a lonely road for you to travel
But darling I will love and dry your tears away
And in these arms I know you'll find The love you've searched for all the time Fate was sending you to me you just got lost along the way.

He was good at first a telling you he loved you
But as he turned out he was good at telling lies This kind always leaves you when He thinks of you as wearin' thin Fate was sending you to me you just got lost along the way.

So lay your head upon my shoulder and cry till you feel better
At last you're where you should have always been I love you so just forget
The past with you before we met Fate was sending you to me you just got lost along the way.

Fate was sending you to me you just got lost along the way!
