Yesterday as I talked with a friend in town I forgot to remember that you'd gone
And for a moment I found my lips smilin' but a moment isn't very long
And last night as I danced with a stranger and she held her cheek close to my own For a moment I almost forgot you but a moment isn't very long
Every now and then I get a chance to smile But those every now and thens just last a little while And tonight I've got a date with a new love but I know I'd do just as well at home
For a moment maybe I could forgot you but a moment
isn't very long

But a moment isn't very long
