(Faron Young)

I used to think all the girls I knew were just the same
I thought the only difference in them was their name
Since I lost you I realized I once have the best
And I can't find a little part of you in all the rest.
There's not any like you left I was too blind to see
Too late I realized how much you meant to me
Now that you're gone well it seems I'm always by myself

Too late I find that there's not any like you left.

--- Instrumental ---

There's not any like you left I was too blind to see
Too late I realized how much you meant to me
Now that you're gone well it seems I'm always by
myself

Too late I find that there's not any like you left..

Too late I find that there's not any like you left
