Why can't you see that you are killing me so easily Why don't you care that you are never there, it's so unfair to be me
I know were falling apart this time
We're falling apart this time
But I can't seem to let this go

Say what you have to say it's easier this way to never see you again
I hope I never see you again

Why do we fight we throw away the whole damn night who cares who was right

Where did we go wrong I should've known it all along I knew it all along

Don't drag this out I'm ready to let go. One more step and I'll be home

The storm is finally over I've been through hell the last two weeks
The storm is finally over and I can finally get some sleep
