And I can almost see your eyes if I place myself just right

In these secrets only we know will you keep these stories with you

And the lights behind illuminate so for now we'll hesitate

Intentions undiscovered once more

So wait for it. Let's try to time this right Now hold your breath make sure that you keep quiet

I'm scared that maybe we won't make it out this time
We just close our eyes, take the fall we both deserve
It's not fair, you can't hold it against us this time We made the same mistakes we all do, you know we all do

Hurry up time is running out. No need to explain what it's all about

It's in here in between the seams and it speaks of conspiracy
I just want to feel your touch that is why this must be done
I won't be betrayed by that certain someone, you know who I mean

Do you think maybe they've caught on Do you think they'd even notice

I reach out and touch your face in this small and darkened room Disappear for one more minute all the others they assume Don't say you have to go because we are just getting started
Don't say you have to go, don't save you have to go

Take my hand we'll make it out They can't take this from us now
