And it's you I can't resist
I never thought I could feel like this, again
And it's you I'm thinking of
Oh tell me could this be love
Only time will tell

Just when I thought that I had had enough
I've given up on love
Due to the fact that all my past relationships
They all went down like sunken ships
And left me with the bitter taste that still remains

But then I found you and for a moment I turned blue
Cause you make it hard to breathe, yeah,
You make it hard to breathe

And it's you I can't resist
I never thought I could feel like this, again
And it's you I'm thinking of
Oh tell me could this be love
Only time will tell

I've had my fair share of letdowns
And I'm no stranger to disappointment
Because most girls have the habit of getting around
Getting around, getting around the streets of Georgia
They change just like the seasons.
But those small town girls they take my breath away

But then I met you and for a moment I turned blue
Cause you make it hard to breathe, yeah,
You make it hard to breathe

And it's you I can't resist
I never thought I could feel like this, again
And it's you I'm thinking of
Oh tell me could this be love
Only time will tell
