Learning to breathe again,
for the first time in so long now.

Learning to see again, through my pride,
learning to speak again, from my heart,
learning to be a friend, for the first time,
for the first time in so long,
for so long. (x7)

Feel like I'm losing time when I worry
'cuz yesterday won't change.
Starting to free my mind from the shadow
of doubt that keeps me in darkness,
testing the air outside my chamber,
into the danger.

Pushing my limits high to the red line and over.
And why have i waited so long?
For so long (x6)

Oh, why have I waited?
Why have I waited, yeah

Well it's hard to be happy in a world that's so cruel,
where the weak just get weaker, where the powerful
feud,
where the children go hungry, while the soldiers stand
by.
Lay down your weapons, take hold of your lives.
And when will we learn that it's hate that breeds hate?
Only love is the cure; don't leave it too late.
Get up and feel it, the truth that won't wait
If we choose to do nothing,
then we take all the blame.
