It's true I thought I was fine
Being alone with all of my time
I thought for all I had
I could do just as I pleased
No one was keeping me on a leash
But if I never came home
It's so hard finding new things to do
When no one looks for you

Now I know I need your love
Now I know I need your love
Cos without it I fear my hope would turn to dust

I used to walk home at night
Content to feel a little alright
Thinking for all I had
That a half of me wasn't all that half bad
But I was wrong
All along
Something was missing
I know exactly where that something is
It lingers in your kiss

Now I know I need your love
Now I know I need your love
Cos without it my happiness is just a bluff

Now I know I need your love
Now I know I need your love
Now I know...
