

Fates Warning

"A Pleasant Shade Of Gray. Part VI"

Visit "A Pleasant Shade Of Gray. Part VI" on MotoLyrics.com

I know that i don't know you
And you couldn't know me
But time and space collided
And here we are, here we are

I know that you don't understand
And i can't explain
But circumstance conspired
And here we are, here we are

"the time is four nineteen..."
"time flies..."
"???"
"the answer is no..."

And i know we can't turn back all the years
Time reflected in a shade of gray
But i often wonder what could have been
And i still hold on to yesterday

And i know we're not children any more
Innocence lost in a sea of gray
But i often wonder what else could be
And i still dream of running away

So where do we begin
And what else can we say?
When the lines are all drawn
What should we do today?

Visit Fates Warning page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.