walking through a wasteland of words and memories looking for the person i used to be thoughts i don't recognize make me realize times have changed and so have i and a familiar fear comes back to me

pale fire
dry land getting drier
nothing can grow
in the ashes of desire
pale fire
burned on the desire
no one can grow
with nothing to inspire the bitter harvest of a barren land i'm painting pictures you don't understand dust blinds my eyes, makes me realize i'm choking life with living lies

pale fire
pale fire

and a familiar fear claims another day wondering have i said all i have to say
