Visit "Point Of View 507" on MotoLyrics.com looking out on a familiar scene theres no agreement in what we see your perception lacks clarify and my perspective is blinding me side by side

divided they stand parallel lives running parallel with YOU to the point where our horizons divide my opinion is just a point of view and your position is the other side caught up in our convictions we forget how our senses distort things we see we cant accept our differences but we can always disagree
divided they stand
parallel lives running parallel wiht YOU
to the point where our horizons divide
where I stand is not so far from YOU a different opinion is just another point of view
