

Bob Lind

"Remember The Rain"

Visit "Remember The Rain" on MotoLyrics.com

Angel that you are
You still remember summer walks
And quiet talks we had
Before our clouds were broken

In the heaven of your mind
Your hopeful heart has put behind
All the ugly jealous times
Our hearts were aching

Now that your pain has been mended
You're only seeing one side
Behind the bright easy laughter
Rivers of tears have been cried

So remember the rain
When you think of the sunshine
You've got to try and see
That's it's gone for you and me
And there is no way
To bring it back again

In a sad unstable way
I love you more than I could say
But it's locked in yesterday
And must remain there

The gentle prisoner in the stall
Sometimes forgets the very walls
That gave her shelter in the fall
Have also chained her

Drink from the spring of tomorrow
Yesterday's well has gone dry
All the good times are behind us
Whenever you ask yourself why

Just remember the rain
When you think of the sunshine
On the ocean of a smile
We floated easy for awhile
But now we're drifted to

The shore where beauty dies

It isn't easy to explain
I never dreamed you felt the same
And even though you're not to blame
We can't continue

Don't let yourself pretend
That we've got something to defend
You've got to try to face the end
With all that's in you

Oh, I can't deny that I love you
But my soul can no longer be bound
Fly on the wings of your freedom
But whenever you look to the ground

Just remember the rain
When you think of the sunshine
Try to understand that
It has fallen from our hands
And just be thankful that
Your soul is still your own

Visit Bob Lind page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.