So much violence in our name
Our life, a silence masked in shame

Children running in the streets
Soldier boots are on their feet
Mothers bare the burdens of our defeats
Fathers are on their knees, praying for mercy

So much violence in our name

Holding me like your shield
Holding me like your shield

So much violence in our name
Our life, a silence masked in shame

No more
No more
No more

Holding me like your shield
Holding me like your shield
Holding me like your shield
Holding me like your shield

No more, violence in our name
No more, violence in our name

No more
No more
