We woke up drunk and the sun was unfriendly
And we dragged ourselves down to the ocean
We laughed at the liars who said we wouldn't make it,
Well we have each other and these songs to prove them wrong

We are stronger than our dead heroes,
No we won't she'd tears for times that we sang alone
And these nights they will last forever,
No we won't she'd tears for ones that left us alone.

Let's drown our past in the deep blue ocean,
We'll light a fire to not to forget but to remember,
The ones we loved and the ones we still loved
When the fire burns out we will move on

We are stronger than our dead heroes,
No we won't she'd tears for times that we sang alone
And these nights they will last forever,
No we won't she'd tears for ones that left us alone.

When the fire burns out we will move on

We are stronger than our dead heroes,
No we won't she'd tears for times that we sang alone
And these nights they will last forever,
No we won't she'd tears for ones that left us alone.
