You said you'd never leave or forsake me
When you said, this life is gonna shake me And you said this world is gonna bring trouble on my soul
This I know

When everything falls apart your arms hold me
together
When everything falls apart you're the only hope for this heart
When everything falls apart and my strength is gone
I find you mighty and strong, you keep holding on
You keep holding on

When I see the darkness all around me
When I see that tragedy has found me
I still believe your faithful arms will never let me go
And still I know

When everything falls apart your arms hold me
together
When everything falls apart you're the only hope for
this heart
When everything falls apart and my strength is gone
I find you mighty and strong, you keep holding on
You keep holding on

Sorrow will last for the night
But hope is rising with the sun, its rising with the sun
There will be storms in this life
But I know You will overcome, you have overcome

When everything falls apart your arms hold me
together
When everything falls apart you're the only hope for
this heart
When everything falls apart and my strength is gone
I find you mighty and strong, you keep holding on
You keep holding on

When everything falls apart your arms hold me
together

When everything falls apart you're the only hope for
this heart

When everything falls apart and my strength is gone
I find you mighty and strong, you keep holding on
You keep holding on
