Let the reason be known now the damage is done
Suffocated the life we need
You've got your head in the clouds, got no voice left to shout
You've reached the end but I can't give in

You said you don't know, you can't show as the world glows
But don't say it's over now
It's too late to call, to find out and crawl
We can't find another way, cause we're fading fast
I don't think we can last another day

I've got you under my skin like a cancer within every second
I feel you grow
Find the healing inside as emotions divide
We've reached the end but I can't give in

You said you don't know, you can't show as the world glows
But don't say it's over now
It's too late to call, to find out and crawl
We can't find another way, cause we're fading fast
I don't think we can last another day

You said you don't know, you can't show as the world glows
But don't say it's over now
It's too late to call, to find out and crawl
We can't find another way, cause it's fading fast
I don't think we can last another day
We can't last another day, we won't last another day
