Count by the stars tonight.
As we burn out bright,
From day to night.
Make believe it's the first time,
Do you read me loud and clear?
Clear, clear...

My eyes can stare longer than yours can.
These muscles tremble while in your hands,
So handle with care.
This can break easier than you think...
Replaceable parts are not east to come by.

Hold your breath for now
See if we can breath out;
Turning blue.
Breath, revive your lungs
Recyled air was once a part of me.
Burn out bright, burn out bright.
Burn out bright, burn out bright...

My eyes can stare longer than yours can.
These muscles tremble while in your hands,
So handle with care.
This can break easier than you think...
Replaceable parts are not east to come by.

Count by the stars tonight.
As we burn out bright,
From day to night.
Make believe it's the first time,
Do you read me loud and clear?

Burn out bright, burn out bright.
Burn out bright, burn out bright...

My eyes can stare longer than yours can.
These muscles tremble while in your hands,
So handle with care.
This can break easier than you think...
Replaceable parts are not east to come by.
