

Feels Like July "Fireworks, Massachusetts"

Years have passed and we're still stuck
Where we were when it began
You're still miles away
We've both gone through the ups and the downs
That we're all due to have

I'm still alone
I still don't know you
And I'm sure it's just as well
But I'm sure I know who you really are

Dark pupils wide
Filling up the summer in her eyes
Oh, a Snow White with a bottle of red wine
You were so good when we were young
But you never blossomed into flowers
You just drowned yourself

I'm still alone
I still don't know you
And I'm sure it's just as well
But I'm sure I know who you really are
I'm sure I know

Some might not believe
It's a fairytale turned false
I've seen the one who meant the most
For ages come to a crashing stop
