(Jerry Foster - Bill Rice)

Will you hold me in the morning like you're holding me tonight

Love is easy when you're lonely but does lonely make right

Am I just another memory of someone you used to know

There's a shadow of your used-to-be that keeps burning in your soul.

And it keeps burning, burning, burning you around
And it keeps burning, burning, burning our love down
It's like a fire that's out of control
And it keep burning, burning in your soul.

Are you touching me with feeling that you mean for me alone

Or just reaching in the darkness for somebody else you've known

I can tell that there is feeling yet for someone you used to hold

There's a fire of love you can't forget and it keeps
burning in your soul.

And it keeps burning, burning, burning you around
And it keeps burning, burning, burning our love down
It's like a fire that's out of control
And it keep burning, burning in your soul.

It keeps burning, burning, burning you around
And it keeps burning, burning, burning our love down
It's like a fire that's out of control
And it keep burning, burning in your soul...
