I've met the Master on my knees been tested and been tried

I've seen the God of heaven paint the fields and country side

I've been the husband of a wife heard my newborn baby cry

But when I've learned enough to really live I'll be old enough to die old enough to die

I'm just a plain hard working man no stopping place have I found

Although I'm tired I'm still inspired at night when I lie down

I've learned to like it on God's earth sometimes I wonder why

When I've learned enough to really live I'll be old
enough to die old enough to die

enough to die old enough to die
