(Hank Williams)

What's the use to deny we've been living in lie
That we should have admitted before
We were just victims of a half hearted love
So why should we try anymore?

The vows that we make are only to break
We drift like a wave from the shore
The kisses we steal we know are not real
So why should we try anymore?

--- Instrumental ---

Our stories so old again has been told in the past
Let's close the door
And smile, don't regret, just live and forget
Oh, why should we try anymore?...
