When my heart is troubled
And I am weighed down
I like to stop and think
Of how this lonesome world could be
If I could see your face
Or hold you in my arms
If you were mine
If you were mine

If you had a bad dream
I would jump inside
And I would fight for you
With all the strength that I could find
I would lead you home
By your tiny hand

If you were mine
If you were mine

I would sing of love
On the blackest night
I would sing of God
And how His goodness fills our lives
I would sing to you
Til the morning light
If you were mine
If you were mine

I would sing to you
Til the morning light
If you were mine
If you were mine
