Rising with the sun is just another day, feel the morning settle in

Welcome to the humdrum that I know so well like a thousand days begin

Can I face it once again up to work on highway ten Maybe ought to spoil the boss tell him what I'd like, what I'd like to say

I will be in L.A. and I feel the rythm of today, oh yeah, I'm on my way

Because I know California blue that simply clears in a dream or two

I've already bought all the things that go down in L.A.

I will be in L.A., pack my things and live it up today

Take a plane everyway

Because I found California sun and in my mind it was just for fun

And now I made it a ticket down into L.A.

Sure I've got someone it's natural I think

But she'd never leave this town

Love to her it seems so smalltown kind of life

She would like to settle down

What to say to such a girl, maybe she will understand

Maybe even wish me luck when I'll tell her what, what I'm gotta say

I will be in L.A. pack my things and live it up today

Oh yeah, I'm on my way

Because I know California stars are talk and walking to passers-by

And sun will be in my head up in L.A.

I will be in L.A., pack my things and live it up today

Take a plane everyway

Because I found California sea, it's meaning everything
to me

And I will sleep on the sand when I go to L.A.

I will be in L.A., pack my things and live it up today

Oh yeah, I'm on my way

Because I found California sea, it's meaning everything

to me

And I will sleep on the sand when I go to L.A.
