

Fey "Games That You Play"

Visit "Games That You Play" on MotoLyrics.com

Thought I will always be so quiet
Thought I would be just in denial
But many times you make the same mistakes
Now you have opened it yourself
Begging for me to run away
Lose myself in the arms of someone else

call it an act of burning rage
It is my way to set the stage
And show you what you lost in vain

Games that you play
That will be your fate
Run away, run away
Now the show is over
Games that you play
And the things you've said
Run away, run away
Now the show is over

Now that there's nothing between us
You should've thought about it more
When you took the chance to gamble with my love

You thought I'd be naive and trust
Not thinking what would be the cause
Now see the truth and face all that you lost

Now I will gamble with you love
The same way you played with my trust
I lost myself in all my lust

Games that you play
That will be your fate
Run away, run away
Now the show is over
Games that you play
And the things you've said
Run away, run away
Now the show is over

Games that you play

That will be your fate
Run away, run away
Now the show is over
Games that you play
And the things you've said
Run away, run away
Now the show is over

It was your act of selfishness
That pushed away all promises
All for the chance of please yourself

Games that you play
That will be your fate
Run away, run away
Now the show is over
Games that you play
And the things you've said
Run away, run away
Now the show is over

Visit Fey page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.