Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
If you hold it for a little while

Janey looks up to the sky
The rain ain't come down in a long, long time
And now she's lookin' over at her man
Tryin' to hold on as tight as she can

Summer's heat is burning up the grass
Green is turning brown like a shadow being cast
Strangely sad, there ain't a cloud up above
She wishes it would rain
She remembers when their love was

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
If you hold it for a little while

He does a lot of staring into space
It never really feels like he's even in the race
There's nothin' there in the hot and humid wind
He wonders if they'll ever know the feeling again of

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
Hey, if you hold it for a little while

The road they're on is hazy from the dust
And it's gettin' hard to see
All the things they put in trust
But while she sleeps, he whispers with a thirst
There's a cloud inside me
And I'm gonna make it burst out

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
If you hold it for a little while

(Just around the corner from you)
Hold it for a little while
(Just around the corner from you)
Just a little while
(Just around the corner from you)
Hold it for a little while
(Just around the corner from you)
Just a little while
(Just around the corner from you)
(Just around the corner from you)
Just a little while
Just a little while
