What can I say to you
To make you understand
All the things I do
And the way they fit in the Master's plan

What can I say to you
To make you not ask why
I always pray for you
I can't forget no matter how hard I try

'Cause the world keeps on
Spinning 'round and 'round
And it seems you're
Spinning upside down

Only You can save my soul
And only You can make me whole again
Only You can see the need in me
And fill the need completely now

What can I say tonight
To erase all the doubt
To brighten up your eyes
To show you what love is all about

What can I say tonight
To crack the ice
To make you realize
That I can see through your disguise

'Cause the world keeps on
Spinning 'round and 'round
And it seems you're
Spinning upside down

Only You can save my soul
And only You can make me whole again
Only You can see the need in me
And fill the need completely

Though you run away
You could never run too far away

From the One who formed you with His hand
He's calling you to take His hand again

Only You can save my soul
And only You can make me whole again
Only You can see the need in me
And fill the need completely

Only You can save my soul
And only You can make me whole again
Only You can see the need in me
