Just a little bit older than me
Just a little bit stronger than me
I used to love you but now I see you only stirred in my soul

Took a vow I'd be dead without you Begin to feel when I start to doubt you
Save the breath in your lungs
I know you try to keep me young

It's your excuse to treat me rough
But I prove to you I'm twice as tough
Oh lets see what I do when I'm nowhere near you

Here's me laying down the law
You don't push me around
You don't push me around no more
Ain't gonna be like the way that it was before
I used to think I was something, I used to think I was but now I'm sure

I must admit I was a little bit scared about all the demons and the snakes out there
But what did I know? Only what you told me was so Beware of these and beware of those Better shut your eyes better hold your nose
Whoa little Joe you can't face the world alone

It's your excuse to treat me rough
But I prove to you I'm twice as tough
Oh lets see what I do when I'm nowhere near you

Here's me laying down the law

You don't push me around
You don't push me around no more
It ain't gonna be like the way that it was before
I used to think I was something, I used to think I was but
now I'm sure

This is my time
I'm gonna make mistakes and they'll be mine
I'll pay for my mistakes and they'll still be fine

Here's me laying down the law
You don't push me around
You don't push me around no
It ain't gonna be like the way that it was before
I used to think I was something, think I was but now I'm sure

Here's me laying down the law
You don't push me around
Push me around
It ain't gonna be like the way that it was before
I used to think I was something, think I was

You don't push me around
You don't push me around
You don't push me around no more
You don't push me around
You don't push me around
You don't push me around no more
You don't push me around
You don't push me around
You don't push me around no more
You don't push me around
