[Verse]

I took your photo off the wall
So I wouldn't notice you at all
I walked away and close the door
Not thinking of staying anymore
Your telling me it's over, but I done know if it right
Your telling me it's dark outside, but I can see the light

If I can make it up to you

[Refrain]

If I can't, runaway
Then I'll find a new direction
If I can't runaway I will find you
If I can't, runaway
Then I'll find a new direction
What would you do?
Bitterness is nothing new

[Verse]

I made a promise to myself
That I'd wouldn't got to you for help
I went the measures that you do
To keep me from running into you
And now I know it's over but I still don't think it's right
Your telling me that it's dark outside, but I can see the light

[Refrain]

If I can't run away
Then I'll find a new direction
Because I know if I stay, I'll confine you
If I can't runaway
And your names to hard to mention
Right from the start we just build it then break it apart
Everything will come undone
