Wastin' time,
just hopin' everything will go my way,
plans for makin' everything OK.
I define,
systems black and white as what we have
and everything I've done is coloured grey.
You've taken everything,
and left me here with nothing.
And I told you everything,
and you left me here with nothin'.
With nothin'.
Wait in line,
just letting my self-anger redesign,
damned to be misunderstood again,
as I decide to represent myself,
but on your terms.
Like giving you the gun to shoot me down.
You've taken everything,
and left me here with nothing.
And I told you everything,
and you left me here with nothin'.
With nothin'.
You've taken everything,
I owe you everything,
one day of judgement.
You've taken everything.
