In this world of changing faces
New ideas from newer places
Come learn from their distant traces
We all have something to give.
In crying for peace for eternal places
Hugs and kisses and good vibrations.
Bring forth to this new celebration
And let the new world begin
Experience the world so you can see
Different kinds of people in different countries
You'll find you're no different from the rest
Laughing at the same jokes crying at someones death
Not to know someone yet trust them.
Without worry or assumption is great, but you better watch out.
Cuz without hate there is no love, and without love
There is no hope to help ourselves.
Break out of our shells.
For we must show who we are
We must show what were made of
We're all special people inside
So let's bring forth to what we've created
And let the new world begin
Experience the world so you can see
Different kinds of people in different countries
You'll find you're no different from the rest

Laughing at the same jokes crying at someone's death
If you try to look inside
You'll find what you need
All the ways to be happy
All the ways to be truly free
You'll find that introverted is not what you wanted to be.
In this world of changing faces
New ideas from newer places
Come learn from them
We all have something to give.
In crying for peace for eternal places
Hugs and kisses and good vibrations.
Bring forth to this new celebration
And let the new world begin
For we must trust each other

To believe in one another
For if we try and we do succeed
We'll find true tranquility
In crying for peace for eternal places
Hugs and kisses and good vibrations.
Bring forth to this new celebration
And let the new world begin
Experience the world so you can see
Different kinds of people in different countries
You'll find you're no different from the rest
Laughing at the same jokes crying at someones death
