

Fifteen "Subdivision"

Visit "Subdivision" on MotoLyrics.com

Johnny won the war today
And he found out that no one wins
It's just a simple interchange
Between this and that

It's really all the same
And races and places
Just create another subdivision
Man's enemy is another man's brother

Johnny won the war today
Narrowly avoided going insane
And it all seems quite plain
And it seems quite plain

Seems quite plain to me
That any enemy is just the same
As you and me
You and me, you and me

White man, black man
Yellow man, red man
This side, that side
You're wrong, I'm right

Every division is artificial
Ain't no reason is to right to anyone
We're all the same mankind
We all possess the same life

Sometimes I wonder if selfishness
Will be our end, will be our end
Will be our end, will be our end

I have a dream today
That all the armies will walk away
Go home and celebrate
Love and life and laughter

I dream the end of win and lose
There's no victory without cooperation
Without cooperation

Without cooperation
Without cooperation

In a world so full of enemies
I dream the end of competition
Five billion people learning
To lose their fear of one another

I dream of a world free of enemies
We can live together in peace
We can live together in peace
We can live together in peace
We can live together in peace

White man, black man
Yellow man, red man
This side, that side
You're wrong, I'm right

Every division is artificial
Ain't no reason is to right to anyone
We're all the same mankind
We all possess the same life

Sometimes I wonder if selfishness
Will be our end, will be our end
Will be our end, will be our end

I had a dream today
That all the armies will walk away
Go home and celebrate
Love and life and laughter

I dream the end of win and lose
There's no victory without cooperation
Without cooperation
Without cooperation
Without cooperation

In a world so full of enemies
I dream the end of competition
Five billion people learning to
To lose their fear of one another

I dream of a world free of enemies
We can live together in peace
We can live together in peace
We can live together in peace
We can live together in peace, peace

