

Fifty Cent

"Glory Sadness"

Visit "Glory Sadness" on MotoLyrics.com

For a while she has been gone with the wind stands alone, trying to feel strong Glory sadness still appears She told you how much she hated the guy you are but you lie, you never heard her reason it?s like the season they?re all far away

You remembered times she banished your heart beware her smile it?s stronger than fire You wonder if the story will end up a tears in your eyes, a last look at me now deception you?re living is nothing new

You don?t have to lie the way you wear your disguise, awake from your dream you have to cut the string, staying alive, realize how sorry your fate will be

She never seems to care about my dreams
You cannot be proud, there?s no way out.

Visit Fifty Cent page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.