No one is gonna sit here and wait for your lies you think you break all my laws but after all you cannot turn me upside down so down that you can't remember what's wrong

And it's the way you're living You got no time to be justify

I hope to see you talking in my back about hypocrisy that's what you start to live in And you want to see everyone forgive you complaining about everything, I pack my bag

I wonder how your lifestyle is Indulge myself if I'm wrong
Don't come back to say that you're sorry

No one is gonna sits here and wait for your lies you thought you've broke all my laws
