I've got a little story to tell you about five kids from ATL.
You better listen closely, and you better listen fuckin
well.

First let me introduce myself I'm KP meadow drive on the east side I'm from a place where the sunrise resides.

This is my home and it's where my heart lies it all started when I met Jason he had guitars all over the place then

I met Staxxx of money and we started out on this rock and roll journey.

Back then CMD was out name. Sex, drugs, rock n' roll was our game.

and even though the name has changed believe you me we're still the same. So where you from?

East of mississippi, and south of old D.C. is a place called the dirty, dirty it's home to all my friends and
me. and i suggest you go there soon and check out all the southern belles in bloom and theres one thing the south has taught me

Tonights the night to fuckin party. after some time we needed to make a change

Luckily along came Tanner and Champ Champagne.

Little did we know that after that night our lives would never ever be the same

We made the move to the mansion you see on old street, I've started having parties weekly.

Man we couldn't believe how good ourselves could be Mansion parties were runnin all night long and the poison it was flowin from dusk til dawn. Damn we really are a sight to see

ON the stage, in the bed, even when we're walkin down the street. we've been around and we've done a few shows.

and as of now we have been coast to coast and let me say i've only learned one thing.

And thats my friends is that Atlanta's King. So where you from?

East of mississippi, and south of old D.C. is a place
called the dirty dirty it's home to all my friends and me.
And I suggest you go theres soon, and check out all the southern belles in bloom.

And there's only one thing the south has taught me.
Tonight's the night to fuckin party.
A-T-L-A-N-T-A is the motherfuckin city that made me.
A-T-L-A-N-T-A is the motherfuckin city that made me.
A-T-L-A-N-T-A fuckin Tanner take it away.
So where you from?
East of mississippi, and south of old D.C. is a place
called the dirty dirty it's home to all my friends and me.
So where you from?
And I suggest you go theres soon, and check out all the
