

Fighting Gravity

"Breathing"

Visit "Breathing" on MotoLyrics.com

i fall down again
i'm still breathing, i'm still breathing sometimes i loose my head how simple indeed just cover me in red i'm so easy to read a star that lives in the darkness a grain of sand in the breeze and i'm alone again with my philosophy that all the years they fade into the scenery and i still loose my self with curiosity that every reason i uncover leads to more i'll never see

i fall down again
i'm still breathing, i'm still breathing
the world spins round again
i'm still breathing, i'm still breathing
my eyes are open wide sometimes i close my eyes afraid of the night only to find myself in fear of the light a lonely boy at the window becomes a man in the rain

and i'm alone again with my philosophy that all the tears they fade into the scenery and i release myself from this hypocrisy so i can paint my heart with shadows light a fire in the sea stars may disappear but i won't miss them the wind may release my fears and i will kiss them

Visit Fighting Gravity page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

