"Room Full Of Smiles"

Hey did you know
This room will fill with smiling folks
Who know me well
With dollar smiles and chairs that are made of gold
Impress, glass of wine and matching dining sets
To show a success of a friend they all may know

I won't give in to the things that they say...

Hey did you know that they won't show up
Up and I stand here in the cold
Open, chairs are packed so tight you can't open doors

I sit and I wait for letters to tell me that you'll be arriving
But no none are here my table is clear my room is still with chairs
And cares when the room will fill with ones you love
And stares dust is settling down from the air

I won't give in to the things that they say...

Hey did you know that they won't show up
Up and I stand here in the cold
Open chairs are packed so tight you can't open
Faith told me so no cars lined up no faces to chauffer
Pictures, now break your chairs so I can show you faith
