There's nothing like being torn apart
By what holds you, holds you together
Should have built my house in something solid
Standing in center of a glass table

But cannot see until, it breaks me and now
Now I ask myself, now I ask

Have you ever breathed for me
Filled my lungs I could not, I could not
Captured breath, rescued me
Did I just call it normalcy, normalcy
Breathe for

Follow me, me in lost despair
Strings of song in, song in minor key
Our philosophical truth in which we trust
Failed behind the wheel of your automobile

Knocked me in the chest voided of my breath
Can I breathe, I ask can I breathe?

Have you ever breathed for me
Filled my lungs I could not, I could not
Captured breath, rescued me
Did I just call it normalcy, normalcy
Breathe for me, breathe for me

Breathe away
Breathe away, away, away
Breathe away
Breathe away, away, away

Have you ever breathed for me
Filled my lungs I could not, I could not
Captured breath, rescued me
Did I just call it normalcy, normalcy
Breathe for me
