

Figure Four "True Colors"

Don't tell me you have bravery
If you haven't felt this thing called life
Now is the time to attack and I won't look back
[Incomprehensible], I will fight this war
Will fight this war

To face my fears
(To face my fears)
To face my fears
(To face my fears)

Where is the war?
In my mind my flesh and in my soul
I fight the lies they put against me
And they're left exposed
With their true colors in the light
Nothing you can say could take what's inside

To face my fears

To face my fears
(To face my fears)
To face my fears
(To face my fears)

Don't tell me you have bravery
If you haven't felt this thing called life
Now is the time to attack and I won't look back
